

4th Grade Weekly News

May 9, 2008

What's Happening:

We had a great week. Everyone is working hard on all of their projects, presentations, papers and assignments as we finish up the year! In Language Arts the students finished their "Peep Bios" for Village Day and are coming close to end of their Language! units. We also continued with our read aloud, The Secret Garden.

In math this week the students are learning how to find the area of different polygons, and differentiating between problems that want you to find perimeter and those that want you to find area. They have done a great job! Next week we will be giving some end of the year assessments.

In Social Studies we continued to discuss citizenship and what it means to be a responsible citizen in your community. We also spent some time preparing for Village Day.

Have a superb weekend and a very happy Mother's Day!!!
